A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE for Yucca Valley Chamber of Commerce President Ray Rauch is registered by standing chamber members, who signified their approval of the chamber's support of State Highway Commission plans for a Dry Morongo Canyon freeway route. More than 50 high desert area residents, many from neighboring

Splits Openly With Associated CofC at Meeting

YUCCA VALLEY — This high desert community today became "rebel country" in the eyes of the area's Associated Chambers of Commerce as Yucca Valley officials reaffirmed their support of the state's Dry Morongo freeway plans.

Associated chamber representatives failed to swerve the Yucca Valley Chamber of Commerce from its solid stand on the Dry Morongo route as debate mounted into heated personal dispute at a free-swinging chamber meeting here last night.

ARMED WITH A "vote of confidence" cast by some 30 chamber members present, Yucca Valley President Ray Rauch rededicated his board to directors' resolution supporting the State Highway Commission.

The action virtually closed the door on associated chamber hopes of an alliance with the community in its new drive to pressure the commission into re-routing the proposed four-lane Twenty-nine Palms highway through Little Morongo Canyon.

SCOFFING AT Associated Chamber Vice President Matt Samel's warning that "the Dry Morongo freeway will demolish your town," Dry Morongo proponents urged the state to "carry on" with its plans.

"All I can see in fighting the route is delay for the road," Rauch declared. "The division engineer (C. V. Kane) is drawing up freeway plans now and I can see no reason why he shouldn't carry on."

RAUCH SAID HIS board of directors voted unanimously to stand with the Joshua Tree and Morongo Valley chambers in their support of the highway commission and he refuted allegations that his agency had aligned itself with the associated chamber of the high desert.

"Our chamber of commerce has never been in favor of the Little Morongo Canyon route," Rauch declared, noting that he had talked with the commission, a Board of Supervisors and pledged wholehearted support.

Samels countered with a statement that a 220-foot right-of-way through the center of the valley "will demolish your town."

Formosa Faces Invasion Threat

TAIPEI, Formosa — UPI — The Nationalist Chinese Defense Ministry warned today that 1,200 Communist jet warplanes are poised along the South China Coast facing Formosa.

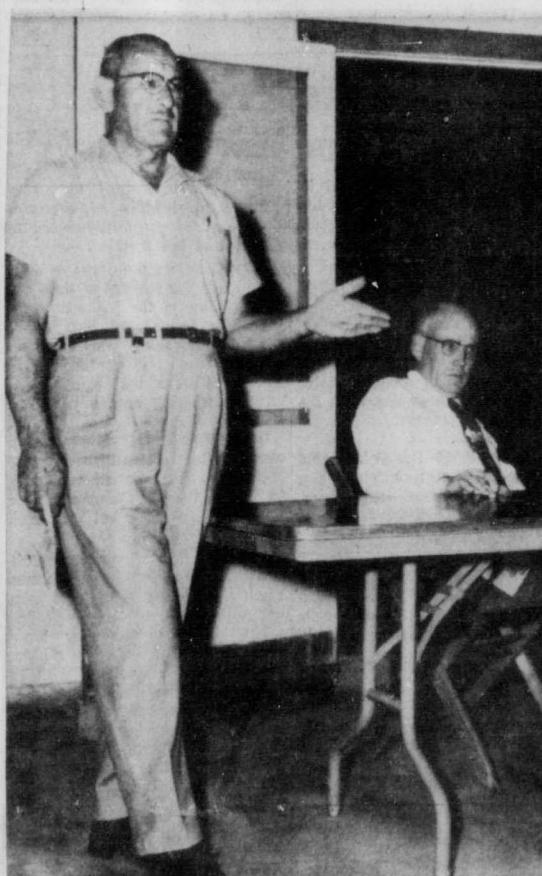

The estimate was made at a news conference by defense spokesman Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu.

THE NATIONALIST government has ordered all military forces, police and civil defense units into wartime alert and is considering proclamation of a national emergency.

These steps were taken after the government reported movement of Russian-built MIG-17s to new Communist airfields, one of them only 22 minutes' jet flying time from Taipei.

"Our agents saw the planes move in," Liu said.

Bomb Explosions Shatter Armed Truce of Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Two bomb explosions shattered Beirut's calm today in a grim reminder that anti-government elements have not given up the fight.

Two persons were reported killed and four injured in one of the blasts.

The bombings were the second major outburst of violence since the election of compromise candidate Gen. Fuad Chehab as president July 31. Last Friday, two persons were killed and 15 injured in a car bomb blast.

They contended that the Little Morongo plan would serve to funnel business into Desert Hot Springs and the low desert.

Tanker Death Toll Goes to 16

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI) — A critically burned survivor of the collision of two tankers died in Newport Hospital today. This brought the number of known dead to 16.

Of the 35 men who were hospitalized Thursday, 10 were released and 24 were still undergoing treatment today.

WEATHER

Desert area forecast: Variable cloudiness today with scattered afternoon and evening thunderstorms. Mostly sunny Saturday but with some cloudiness. Not much temperature change. Highs today 95-110.

Yesterday's high 105, low 78.

DAY-LONG TRIP PLANNED FOR 51 YOUNGSTERS

Palm Springs youngsters were today invited on a day-long bus trip to Marineland, compliments of the City Recreation Department and the Youth Center.

City Recreation Superintendent Howard Haddock said junior high and high school boys and girls will board a special bus Aug. 12 for a day-long outing at Marineland and the beach.

Liu said by moving jets to bases closer to Formosa, Communist China "has affected our air supremacy in the Taiwan Straits and along the edge of the Ohna Mainland."

HE ADDED, "IF the enemy planes would provoke a fight, they shall be dealt a very bloody nose by us."

Liu said, "The Communists must have prepared their plans to invade Taiwan, Formosa, not later than Saturday."

Later he denied a report published in a Hong Kong newspaper that the Nationalists have started evacuating Matsu and Quemoy, Formosa's major offshore island groups.

THE MAJOR opposition forces have been observing an "armed truce" since Chehab's election. It was believed the bombings were the work of some extremist group.

A police sergeant on the scene said two persons were killed and four injured when one bomb exploded in a cafe in the Place des Cannons, Beirut's main square.

However, no official confirmation was immediately available.

NO ONE WAS HURT in the other explosion in the Bab El Driss section of the capital.

Scattered shooting echoed on the edges of rebel-held sectors of Beirut Thursday night. But the gunfire was far less than was usually heard in the city before parliament elected Chehab last Thursday to succeed Chamoun.

Although Gromyko was named to head the delegation, there had been some feeling in Moscow that Premier Nikita Khrushchev would go to New York later on.

Zuckerman Killed in Auto Crash

Headed Group Developing New Golf Club

MORTON B. ZUCKERMAN, 37-year-old developer of the new multi-million dollar Palm Springs Golf Club, was instantly killed in a Detroit, Mich., auto crash yesterday, it was reported here today.

Zuckerman, long prominent as an energetic young builder and developer in Detroit, left here by air for the Michigan city Wednesday night.

HE RENTED A CAR at the Detroit airport and was killed 15 minutes later, at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, when his auto smashed into an abutment on the Detroit expressway.

A native of New York, Zuckerman lived in Detroit for 12 years before moving to his permanent Palm Springs home last month. Zuckerman, his wife and three children resided at 1011 Marshall Way.

AS PRESIDENT of the Westview Development Company, Zuckerman spear-headed the Palm Springs Golf Club project, now under construction on Highway 111 along the east boundary of Section 30.

Meeting in emergency session, Westview directors today named Frank Jannetta, former corporation treasurer, as the new president. Frank Bogert remained as executive vice president.

Zuckerman's death as "a great loss," but announced plans to continue the golf club development as scheduled.

AT THE TIME OF his arrest, Levi had in the compartment of his car some 300 letters, 252 of which were addressed to the California Water and Telephone Company in Palm Springs, and a packet of 189 stolen checks, not in envelopes. The package of checks totaled about $5,000.

DETECTIVE RICHARD HAGERTY SAID the President was "particularly pleased" by the challenge issued by the Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. for the Russians to carry the assembly proceedings behind the Iron Curtain by radio so that the people there could "judge the true facts for themselves."

The White House gave no hint whether the President will make a personal appearance at the assembly to lead off the American part of the debate. He told his news conference Wednesday he would be willing to participate in the emergency session if necessary.

AT THE SESSION, the United States is expected to seek a firm pledge that all nations refrain from meddling in the turbulent Middle East. This would give U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold time to work out a long-range formula to quarantine the area against "indirect aggression."

This was reported today by official sources as President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles shaped up American strategy for the emergency U. N. assembly on the Middle East scheduled to get underway later today but not get down to business until next week.

Promises of stepped-up American economic aid for the Middle East are expected to be made only if a satisfactory degree of political stability is assured, officials said.

IT'S A BOY FOR Bing AND KATHY! BORN 11:32 A.M.

Actress Kathy Grant, second wife of Crooner Bing Crosby, gave birth to a seven-pound, nine-ounce son at 11:32 a.m. today at the Queen's Hospital in Los Angeles.

Hospital officials said both mother and son were "doing fine."

The 23-year-old actress was brought to the hospital at 3:45 a.m. by her husband, who immediately reserved a room next to hers.

Mrs. Crosby's physician, Dr. Abner Moss, said the young actress "is in good condition and spirits."

He said delivery was normal "with no complications." Moss said the baby had not been expected until Aug. 17.

Crosby, 54, and the former Olive K. Grandstaff, of West Columbia, Texas, were wed Oct. 24, 1957, at St. Anne's Catholic Church in Las Vegas, Nev. It was her first marriage.

Arrest in San Bernardino Discloses Post Office Theft

AN ARREST in San Bernardino yesterday brought about the disclosure that the Palm Springs Post Office, along with many others in Southern California, had been the victim of a series of mail thefts, and at the same time brought possible solution to three local check forgery cases.

BILLIE LEVI, 30, of Cabazon, was arrested by San Bernardino police after he allegedly attempted to cash a forged check for $82 at the Security First National Bank in that city.

AT THE TIME OF his arrest, Levi had in the compartment of his car some 300 letters, 252 of which were addressed to the California Water and Telephone Company in Palm Springs, and a packet of 189 stolen checks, not in envelopes. The package of checks totaled about $5,000.

DOAK DAVIS, telephone company manager, said this morning that the letters, returned to them by postal authorities this morning, contained correspondence and telephone bill payments. He added that many subscribers had been sent disconnect notices, and "it will mean the notifying of each of these subscribers."

WHITE HOUSE PRESS SECRETARY James C. Hagerty said the President was glad that the U. N. Security Council adopted a resolution calling for the special assembly session on the Middle East.

HAGERTY SAID the President was "particularly pleased" by the challenge issued by the Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. for the Russians to carry the assembly proceedings behind the Iron Curtain by radio so that the people there could "judge the true facts for themselves."

The White House gave no hint whether the President will make a personal appearance at the assembly to lead off the American part of the debate. He told his news conference Wednesday he would be willing to participate in the emergency session if necessary.

PUC Denies Water Petition At Salton Sea

The California Public Utilities Commission today said "there is no existing satisfactory source of water" for the Desert Beach subdivision on the northern shore of the Salton Sea near State Highway 111 in Riverside County in dismissing a complaint brought by five property owners against the Desert Beach Corporation.

The commission said that water for a well and a spring are unfit for human consumption and that it would not be "economically feasible" to install purification systems. Testimony at a public hearing May 28 in Indio disclosed that purification systems costing nearly $75,000 would be required to make the water potable.

The complaint was brought by Lawrence E. Palmer, Abigail H. Huth, George Charbonneau, Ethel Trucks and Marion Biggy, who asked that the corporation be declared a public utility and required to make improvements in the water system.

In dismissing the complaint, the commission pointed out that purchasers of property in the subdivision were promised domestic water service in 100-gallon containers at three cents a gallon. The decision said the "record indicates that none of these users now desire to receive such water and, in any event, furnishing water in such containers does not constitute public utility service."

"INVISIBLE TRAFFIC COP" is the unofficial name for the radar speed computing device tested in Palm Springs this week by Police Chief August Kettmann, center, and acting Sgt. Nick Maff, of the police traffic division. As explained by Ron Anderson, right, regional manager for the Law Enforcement Equipment Company, the electronic traffic sentinel being aimed by Maff sends out an unseen beam, which bounces back from the target object—in this case, an auto—and registers the speed of the object on the face of a dial. A slender black needle unerringly marks the speed of the target in miles per hour. (Desert Sun Photo).

Radar, the invisible traffic cop, made its debut in Palm Springs this week.

But don't start counting your traffic tickets before they're written—it was strictly an unofficial performance.

THE RADAR device, identical to speed computers used in at least 30 Indiana cities, was tested here yesterday by Police Chief August Kettmann and Palm Springs traffic officers.

Shepherded by Bob Anderson, regional manager for the Law Enforcement Equipment Company, Chief Kettmann and his officers tested the electronic gadget in several city locations.

"WE ARE NOW studying various instruments to check their value and accuracy to determine whether they would be of value in Palm Springs," Chief Kettmann said.

But we haven't made any recommendations to the City Council as yet," he added.

HOWEVER, CHIEF Kettmann's reaction to the radar test indicated that radar might well prove a valuable arm for the traffic officer checking traffic.

Chief Kettmann and Acting Sgt. Nick Maff shared a patrol car with one of these electronic sentinels for the better part of the morning.

OUTWARDLY, THE radar equipment takes the form of a small, neat black box, fastened to the fender by a suction cup. Two foot-long prongs extend from its face, aimed in a long diagonal across the traffic lanes.

A smaller box contains a white instrument face, calibrated in miles per hour, with numerals marked by a thin black needle. Wires from both boxes reach into the car and a tube-infested amplifier resting on the back seat.

Power is obtained through the cigarette lighter socket in the vehicle's dashboard.

EACH CAR PASSING across the path of the protruding prongs caused the needle to jump to a figure on the dial face, indicating with pointed accuracy the speed of the car.

Anderson said there is "no question of the accuracy" of this device, and Kettmann pointed out that out of 3,000 traffic citations issued on the "say-so" of radar last year, less than .50 of one percent of the motorists involved entered pleas of innocence.

"NO ONE REALLY questions the accuracy of radar," Anderson said. "In fact, officers report that the only question they're ever asked is 'how does it work?'"

Which question Anderson answered by stating that electrical impulses, similar to those radiated by military radar devices, calibrate the speed of a vehicle.

Signals are amplified through a meter which records the speed in miles per hour.

IN THIS CASE, the pronged box sends out its invisible beams, which bounce off the target object and are again picked up by the box. Electronic equipment translates these impulses into a dial reading.

"We do have some trouble with dips in the highway and similar factors," Anderson noted.

He explained that the radar impulses are usually beamed at

City Postpones Action on Vista Chino Paving

Palm Springs City Council this week postponed until its next meeting discussion and action on the paving of Vista Chino, from Indian Avenue to Sunrise Way.

Members of the council indicated that they wanted more time to think over a proposition offered them by Culver Nichols for a right-of-way a half a mile long and 40 feet wide on the south side of the street.

NICHOLS HAS offered the property to the city if the city will lower a water main for him—a cost to the city of $22,000.

Councilman Ted McKinney voiced the opinion that if the city did not lower the pipe, but widen only the north half of the street, when the Nichols property is subdivided it will be necessary for him to both lower the pipeline and put in the curbs and street.

TIME SEEMS to be the big problem facing the council on the matter, for if they want it completed to its full 60 foot width, immediate availability of the right-of-way would be necessary.

The council plans to bring the matter up for official action at the meeting of Aug. 27.

LONDON (UPI) — A British housewife complained today not even the cozy world of the village flower show is safe from infiltration by the grotesqueries of modern art.

"I have found myself confronted with flowers arranged in old boots, top hats, and on one occasion an old skull. . . ." Mrs. Rick said. "I do not recall anything so shattering, however, as a solitary rose clutched Carmen-fashion in a pair of dentures."

Power of Sale of Housing Projects Vested in Authority

The only law by which the Riverside County Housing Authority's present projects can be discontinued is by liquidation by sale to private ownership the Board of Supervisors was advised this week by County Counsel Ray T. Sullivan, Jr.

Sullivan said further that a decision to sell would have to come from the commissioners of the county housing authority. "Their decision cannot be forced upon them by the Board of Supervisors," he declared. "The commissioners are not county officers or employees but are officers of the state exercising the powers vested in them by state statute."

COUNCILMAN Ted McKinney voiced the opinion that if the city did not lower the pipe, but widen only the north half of the street, when the Nichols property is subdivided it will be necessary for him to both lower the pipeline and put in the curbs and street.

THE COUNTY'S HA projects are three in number, according to Sullivan. Indio has two, one consisting of 20 housing units, and the other a farm labor camp containing facilities for 23 farm laborers. The third project consists of 12 housing units in Beaumont.

The cost of construction of the two housing unit projects totals $256,000. The money was borrowed, notes and bonds payable over a period of 40 years. The balance is now in the neighborhood of $256,000. In addition, a balance of $10,000 remains on the farm labor camp at Indio.

The supervisors filed the report from county counsel.

Scientists Propose Tapping Earth's Inner Heat for Power

With all eyes on the skies watching for the next outstanding achievement in the outer space race it may well be, as some leading scientists suggest, that we are overlooking the development of an important field of great discoveries waiting to be found beneath the earth's surface.

The intriguing idea of boring a hole through the hard outer crust of the earth to tap the molten inner mass which is the earth's fiery center was the topic of earnest study by a small group of American scientists at a recent meeting.

In the belief that this is now entirely possible due to the recent development of deep drilling equipment and perfection of new metals of extremely high heat resistance the group has gone on record as urging the government to sponsor such a project.

For the benefit of the laity it is estimated that the solid outer shell of the earth ranges from 12 to 20 miles in average thickness with some low spots in the ocean being as thin as eight miles.

With record depth of some oil wells now exceeding 20,000 feet and from which oil flows at the boiling point, it would seem that the drilling of a "test" hole entirely through to the molten lava beneath is within the realm of possibility.

At this stage one might well ask what value would such a pin-prick puncture of the earth's surface have except perhaps to prove scientific theory by creating a miniature man-made volcano whilst its correctness has already been demonstrated by past eruptions through the phenomena of natural fissures.

The reply is that it would make available an inexhaustible supply of heat which could be converted into energy and power for all of the uses known to mankind. It would also produce many minerals and gases as by-products.

With the world's supply of oil, coal, timber and minerals gradually being exhausted it would indeed be comforting to know that an abundant new source of supply lies beneath our feet, ready to be tapped at any time desired.

From this standpoint the suggestion of the scientists that the United States start now and be first to drill through the earth's comparatively thin outer crust has a more practical application than would occur to most of us at a glance.

At an estimated cost of $50,000,000 to reach, harness and utilize the earth's inner heat and power, the cost might be a real bargain compared to the $6,000,000 required to send a man to the moon whose frigidity and lack of both oxygen and water makes it uninhabitable for earth dwellers, anyway.

STAN DELAPLANE'S Postcard

By Phat

An encouraging note—
The nights soon will turn cool,
The house will be quiet
With the kids back in school.

Here it is, August 8, and in a matter of weeks, the slack days of summer will be replaced by the quickened tempo of a mighty busy Fall, Winter and then, Spring.

EVERYBODY is counting the days. The mothers, the teachers and the kids. Also the merchants. To the first-named, they're dragging, to the second and third, they're going fast enough to break the sound barrier.

(Most youngsters have no sound barrier.)

Anyway, it isn't going to be long before the walls of the new school buildings are going to be given the acid test.

NOT SO LONG AGO, in attempt to alleviate the impact of the heat I wrote that it was hot all over but that we were better off here because we had air conditioning.

That prompted a letter from a Mrs. B who started her missive with a poem:

"Conditioned air is very nice for those who can afford the price," and then went onto say that she, and some others she knew, couldn't afford to run the higher electric rate here.

"My bill won't be any lower for writing this," she said, "but I feel better off for having let off a little steam."

With the heat being what it was, that last statement constitutes an appropriate metaphor.

CAME ANOTHER communication this week, this one from San Francisco. (The Sun gets around.)

"In your column item of July 31, 1958," he began in a business-like way, "Of course, you were humbugging when you suggested the city conduct a pool with the prize, after the city skimmed off a certain percentage for itself, to the person who first named the day when the temperature would not reach 100 degrees."

"SERIOUSLY, however, why doesn't the United States conduct a National Lottery? Once a month, say, with tickets sold at a nominal price and the government taking its percentage? This would bring in plenty of revenue."

"Like the Irish Sweepstakes or the British football pools."

"People love to gamble and are gambling. Even the churches sometimes indulge in a mild form of gambling for comforts or blankets."

"Don't mistake me. I'm not a whistled bum heading for skid row. I belong to church and support it."

"Speaking of the inherent lure of gambling, you'd be surprised at some of the people I've seen at Bay Meadows and Tanforan."

"ANOTHER CARD, mailed before the postage rates went up, recalled the troubles of Mr. Goldfine and his gifts to people in high places."

"There's a strip-teaser here in New York who's abreast of the time. She's changed her name and now bills herself as: 'Cleo DEAR CLEO: Because you're a lady—not a slob.'

"IMogene Fry writes: 'Parents are people who lie awake nights wondering if daughter's dreamboat is one of those ships that make a pass in the night.'"

Looking over the financial page this morning, I see that the Ford people lost $17 million. This is a fair score. And, as a stockholder, I surely hope they find it.

One place they should look is under the newspaper that you line the dresser drawer with. Ladies are always tucking money under drawer linings. I imagine Ford has lady bookkeepers.

A LADY BOOKKEEPER would never think of tucking $17 million in a safe. And if you asked her why, she would answer logically:

"That would be the first place that burglars would look for it. You cannot beat a lady for logic."

I possess three shares of Ford stock and naturally am interested whenever they drop loose change.

Of course, in these deductible days, it is sometimes GOOD to lose money.

ON THE OTHER hand, it may be that the Ford people want to make money. And I am preparing my thesis for the next stockholders' meeting.

That prompted a letter from a Mrs. B who started her missive with a poem:

"Point— and it is so simple they will be amazed—is they are making the Ford too good. It is so easy these days, there is no audience participation."

Let me tell you the Model T of my youth was the original do-it-yourself kit.

WHEN WE GOT a Model T, we bought the bare necessities: A body with four wheels and an engine. It was just like a lady with a new dress. You couldn't get along without the accessories.

THE ENGINE AND car frame had a very loose connection and tended to chatter. When you bound them with the WMS and S, they could chatter together.

Anyway, these are just a few things they could take OFF the car. It would make millions—

For $2 you could mount an N-L Oil Gauge—a princely $17 million! Have they looked in the teapot? We found $2.25 in the teapot once. And I wish you could have heard the logical excuse.

WHY MY CAR comes these days with all sorts of things we used to ADD: rubber pads on the pedals, speedometers, oil gauge.

If you wanted to know how fast you were going, you put your hand out the side and estimated the wind.

Well, that is the advice I will give Ford. When us stockholders gather at River Rouge and cut up stockholding touches.

Take off the chrome, boys. And make room for the bacon rind.

Dr. Milkies Enjoy Vacation At Philmont Scout Ranch

Dr. and Mrs. George Milkie and children, Paul, Pamela and Patty, 4193 Calle San Raphael, vacationed at Philmont, the National Boy Scout Ranch in Cimarron, N. M.

The trip took them through the Oak Creek Canyon, Jerome (the largest ghost town in the world), and the Painted Desert in Arizona. They also visited Santa Fe and Taos, N. M. In Taos they visited the Indian pueblos and ruins and the Kit Carson grave and museum (formerly his home).

Philmont comprises over 127,000 acres of rugged western country on the slopes of the Sangre de Cristo range of the Rocky Mountain chain. The old Santa Fe trail passed through the ranch, which is rich in wild game — deer, elk, coyote, antelope, mountain lion, buffalo, wild turkey, and bear.

On the way home they stopped at Mesa, Ariz., where Mrs. Milkie (Lillie) had an opportunity to visit many of her friends (she lived there several years prior to her marriage to the doctor).

The Milkies then traveled to San Diego to visit the parents of both of them.

After several days in San Diego and La Mesa they then journeyed to the fun and excitement of Disneyland.

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE

By JACK CUDDY
United Press International

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. — (UPI) — John Cranston of the reddish brown hair and steam-lined six-foot-two frame, admitted today, "I had to control my temper as well as my service when I went out there against Sam Giannalva."

The 21-year-old southpaw from San Marino, Calif., who almost wrecked the Eastern grass court tennis tourney by eliminating world champion Ashley Cooper of Australia on Tuesday and eighth-seeded Giannalva Wednesday, said, "Naturally, I was pretty grim."

"BUT I'M NOT bitter about it now—not even about the absence of club officials during my match with Giannalva," he added.

If this senior finance student from UCLA had the flaring temperament of many former court stars, he might have stalked off the court when given the absent treatment—a treatment he could neither understand nor appreciate.

ON TUESDAY THE hard-hitting Californian with the twisting serve went out and eliminated Cooper, 6-3, 6-3. Cooper, Wimbledon and Australian singles champ, generally is recognized as "world's" champion. Cranston, rated only 29th among U. S. players, wasn't even seeded here.

If an obscure performer in any other sport had beaten a world champion, he doubtlessly would have been deluged with congratulations from every one connected with the contest.

BUT NOT IN THIS instance. Instead of glorifying Cranston, the club officials concentrated on blasting Cooper for permitting Cranston to beat him. They were upset because they had contributed expense money to bring Cooper to the tourney and he had let them down by being eliminated early, they said.

In the moment of his greatest triumph, young Cranston must have felt like a rookie hurler who had just pitched a no-hitter but was flabbergasted by hearing everyone condemn the opposing batsmen for letting him get away with it.

NO WONDER HE WAS fighting his temper when he went out on the courts against Davis Cup player Giannalva of Houston, Tex.

"I said to myself, 'I've just got to win this one or else they'll continue to regard Tuesday's result as a Cooper loss and not a Cranston victory,'" he said.

He downed Giannalva, 6-3, 6-5. When John saw the Texan was getting to him at 3-0 in the second set, he coaxed the set out and then over-powered him in the third.

And he doesn't feel bitter today.

New Long-Term Gas Contract Is Announced

Southern California and Southern Counties Gas Cos. announced this week they are entering into a long-term contract to purchase 550,000,000 cubic feet of out-of-state gas a day to meet rising energy needs of the Southland. The contract, for a minimum of 20 years, was signed by with El Paso Natural Gas Co., with deliveries to start Jan. 1, 1960, and to be increased in stages until the entire amount is reached on Jan. 1, 1964.

EL PASO NATURAL will make deliveries by purchase of (1) 200,000,000 cubic feet daily from Colorado Interstate Gas Co.; (2) 200,000,000 cubic feet from Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp.; and (3) 150,000,000 cubic feet of Canadian gas, covered by a pending application before Canadian governmental authorities.

The new project is a modification of a plan announced earlier to bring 400,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily into this area from a point near Twin Falls, Idaho. Under the new agreement, quantities have been increased to 550,000,000 cubic feet a day, and the pipeline will now start at Rock Springs, Wyo.

THE COLORADO Interstate gas will originate in the Texas-Oklahoma Panhandle area, while Pacific Northwest supplies will come chiefly from the Rocky Mountain area.

To transport these new supplies of natural gas to the two Southland companies, a series of 34-inch pipelines is planned for construction.

Calectric Stock Earnings Drop By One Cent

Second quarter earnings of 30 cents a share on 3,500,000 shares of common stock outstanding June 30, 1958, compared with 31 cents for the same period in 1957 were announced today by Carl C. Ernst, California Electric Power Company president, in the utility's report to stockholders.

Increased rates allowed by the Public Utilities Commission of California were effective only for approximately half of this quarter.

The report showed that for the year ended June 30, 1958, earnings were $1.01 a share on outstanding stock compared with $1.07 for the prior year. Net income for the year ended June 30 was $4,327,057 versus $4,197,624 for the like period in 1957.

Gardening in the Desert

As the personal landscaping of your grounds begins to assume a semblance of symmetry and order you may note a bareness or of something missing. More often than not the lack of covering for a surrounding fence may be the cause.

This defect may easily be remedied as there are dozens of covering climbers from which to choose. Among these is the Cape Honeysuckle with its orange and yellow sprays and its enormous buds from which emanate golden yellow funnels that will soon cover part of an unornamented fence.

ALSO WORTHY OF consideration is the Queen's Wreath with its dainty, long pendant clusters of lively pink against a background of exquisite green foliage; the Geraldton wax flower and its sprays of delicate, five-petal ed, white and pink flowers. The guavas, lemon, pink or strawberry, may be espaliered against a fence. The night-blooming jasmine can be treated in a like manner. However, this method of growing calls for extra attention and care but the final effects will more than pay for your efforts. Espaliering of plants has become quite popular.

THE NIGHT-BLOOMING JASMINE will thrive best locally if provided with a slight shade. It should not be confounded with the night-blooming cereus, whose bloom is confined to but one display a year. The night-blooming jasmine owes its origin to the West Indies and boasts of a family of about 150 different species.

Long after sundown its starlike blooms open and emit a pleasant aroma that permeates the atmosphere for yards around. It is advisable to bed this plant too near a bedroom or living room window, as many of us who have spent some nights in the West Indies are aware. Its pleasant but powerful aroma, if indulged in for too long a period, becomes nauseating to many people.

AFTER THE BLOOMING period of its flowers has ceased sprays of jasmine berries appear in their stead. These may be used to add an unusual note to your indoor bouquets.

A word of warning to the wise housewife: — When September comes around and you plan a hurried visit to the local nursery do not leave anything cooking on the stove. The bewildering array of seedlings, potted and canned flowers, bedding plants, shrubs and trees on display will probably prove so invitingly inviting as to obliterate from your mind all thoughts of the cooking.

You may even braise for a couple of hours before deciding which of the many plants you can possibly do without; there seems no end of specimens from which to choose. All are intriguing and you will have to exercise all the restraint you can muster before tearing yourself away from the nursery.

Feeling Blue?

Lighting May Be At Fault

Your emotions can be affected by a flick of a light switch.

"Whether you feel happy or sad, gay or depressed, relaxed or irritable often depends on the type of lighting that surrounds you," according to the American Home Lighting Institute.

FROM BIRTH ON, each person is conditioned to react in specific ways to different types of light. By knowing what emotions go with each type of light, you can influence the way people feel.

"A pinpoint of light stimulates," the institute said. "Enlarge it to a pool of light and it becomes warm and concentrating. Extend it to fill a room and it gives a feeling of spaciousness and freedom."

The variety of lighting fixtures available today makes it simpler than ever for the homemaker to bring on the mood that best suits her needs, while avoiding unpleasant results.

Ceiling fixtures, for example, are best for providing overall illumination that is usually basic for any room. Pulley fixtures and certain wall fixtures provide excellent pools of light. Spotlight and bullet fixtures are good sources of light pinpoints.

Many homemakers make the mistake of using only one type of light, instead of combining them, the institute said. The result is uninteresting lighting.
